

Beam Travel

Date: 11 December 2018

MUU: 500,000

Welcome to the South Pole with the first-class comfort!

B Dal Kikin
December 11, 2018

 Tweet  Share  Plus  Pin

<http://www.white-desert.com>

Why stay in the city all winter, when you can enjoy the endless snowy landscapes of the South Pole with first-class comfort.

<http://www.white-desert.com>

Flying to the South Pole is not an expensive enterprise. But White Desert decided to make it even more expensive.

<http://www.white-desert.com>

A week in the company of penguins and permafrost will cost € 68,000 (the cost will have to be added to the flight to Cape Town, where the trip starts from). But in none of these days will you have to sacrifice comfort - as far as it is possible in the Antarctic.

<http://www.white-desert.com>

Why the trip is so expensive? A group of 12 people is going to travel, and the flight from Cape Town is carried out in a private plane. Accommodation - in a comfortable camp, where in each "igloo" - dining room, kitchen, shower and heated beds. Moving on the ice - in jeeps, and even to the penguins have to get on the plane.

