White Desert Antarctica has launched an epic eight-day 'Virgin Summit' tour for 2022. Flying into the interior of Antarctica, up to 12 explorers will go on a pioneering adventure to summit a virgin peak in the Drygalski Mountain Range in Antarctica. Guests will begin their expedition at the base of the mountains, where guides will have set up camp. After a night on the glacier, the trek into the mountains will take advantage of the 24-hours of sunlight to summit a peak where no human has stood before. For the rest of the trip guests will be treated to luxury accommodation at White Desert's eco-camp, Whichaway, located on the edge of the Great White Continent by the Schirmacher Oasis. white-desert.com
