Utterly isolated in the middle of the Pacific Ocean, Easter Island still maintains its aura of mystery. The island is pitted with volcanic craters and lush green foliage, while the story of the ancient culture that lived there is no less beguiling. Immense wooden Moais litter the countryside that are feats of engineering and craftmanship in themselves. The proliferation of these totems is incredible, as each new generation of ancient islanders tried to appease their gods and prosper – but ultimately, leading to their own destruction.

Easter Island is a place like nowhere else on earth – and once there, it is impossible not to be swept away by the unique nature of its environment and its bizarre history.

CLICK TO VIEW VIDEO OF HANGA ROA

EXPERIENCES

EXPLORING THE COASTLINE

We journey back into the past as we venture into the Ana Kakenga cave and trek along the volcano's crater rim.

MOAI VISITS

As we pass by the myriad of Moai sculptures, the history of this strange people is relayed by expert local guides and the theories expounded as to why they built them.

BEACHES, SNORKELING AND SCUBA DIVING

Easter Island is encircled by pristine waters, open ocean caves and beautiful beaches. We organise a snorkeling adventure and for the qualified, a chance to scuba dive.

ACCOMMODATION

The hotel is a luxurious eco-resort inspired by traditional Rapa Nui culture. The building utilizes volcanic rock, wood and traditional textiles throughout. Even the spa is a replica of an ancient Manavai – a stone circle used to protect crops. It is also a place where one feels the power, energy and purity of the earth.

WHY WE LOVE IT

As the most remote inhabited island on Earth, it is impossible not to feel the raw energy of Easter Island. The landscape is wild and adventurous, creating the perfect playground for hiking, mountain biking and diving along pristine shores. For those looking for a lower heart rate, the fascinating history is born out of the island's people; whose stories will transport you back in time to an era that feels more mythical than true.

As the third largest island on Earth, Borneo is home to vast areas of pristine rainforest and a profusion of unique wildlife. The jungles are simply endless, with long languid rivers winding like arteries through the trees. We venture into the heart of the jungle in search of the ‘old man of the forest’ – the Orangutan.

Famed for being the most intelligent of all the Great Apes, these gentle giants are full of expression and have deeply complex social dynamics. We will see them in their wondrous habitat, far inside the Malaysian rainforest and in raw, untapped nature.

INTRODUCTION

Ranthambore National Park is a vast wildlife reserve in Rajasthan, northern India. Formerly a royal hunting ground for the late Kings of the Chauhan dynasty, the scene is straight out of Kipling's 'Jungle Book'. The ruined temples are overrun by forest, wild animals are in abundance with leopards, monkey, marsh crocodiles and even bear dotting the landscape. However, the real star of Ranthambore is the tiger.

The tiger population is healthy and active, making it almost guaranteed that you will witness one of nature's most rare apex predators. Elusive, highly active, and of such sheer, breathless beauty; the tiger is an animal that inspires both awe and fear.

During your stay at Ranthambore, you can revel in accommodation, service and architecture that can only be described as opulent – in customary Indian style.

EXPERIENCES

Our group will split between two luxury tented camps - Vanya Vilas and Sher Bagh. An immersive wildlife experience even while at camp, each tent is replete with comfortable beds, en-suite bathrooms, and air conditioning, while the furnishings are typically Indian and lavish.

WHY WE LOVE IT

Ranthambore is everything one could dream about India. Its stunning natural beauty is matched only by its long history and abundance of wildlife. # INTRODUCTION

Namibia is the ultimate contrast to Istanbul. The vast sand dunes are vivid orange with black shadow lines that dissect them with almost geometric precision. The landscape looks more lunar than earthly and yet, somehow, there is still life.

The Namib desert is one of the oldest and driest on Earth with a surprising array of adapted wildlife. We will see giant Oryx antelope standing motionless on the summit of the dunes, their flanks open to the weak desert breeze, trying to cool their bodies.

Up close, the low salt pans look crystal white, with eerie black trees mummified by the lack of moisture. In this intensely barren landscape, the rains come every twenty years or so, creating a bloom of flowers across the entire landscape. The seeds have been waiting all this time for a single drop of rain.

CLICK TO VIEW VIDEO OF WALVIS BAY

SOSSUSVLEI EXCURSION

We head out at sunrise to the red sand desert whose dunes are some of the tallest in the World. The views across the sea of sand look more like something from the movie set 'DUNE'.

DESERT DINNER

A fabulous long table dinner in the middle of a desert, complete with sundowner drinks and live music.

HOT AIR BALLOON RIDE

Take in panoramic views of the surrounding mountains and desert plains. As the sun rises the colours of the sand dunes come to life as you delight in a champagne breakfast.

ACCOMMODATION

We will be staying in two exquisite luxury safari camps located in the Reserve - Kwessi Dunes and Wolwedans. The camps are situated in wildly remote locations, surrounded by towering red sand dunes and vast, open views.

WHY WE LOVE IT

Namibia is an extraordinary country of stark contrasts. There are no greater opposing forces than a vast dry desert colliding directly with a wild ocean and this is exactly what happens on Namibia's Skeleton Coast. It is incredible to crest a sand dune and catch your first breath of humid sea air, whilst gazing out over centuries-old ship wrecks and bays teaming with wildlife. This is Africa at its best!

While there is so much to do in the Mother City, our focus will be preparing for our journey even further South – Antarctica.

INTRODUCTION

This is the world's most extraordinary day trip! We switch onto our specialist polar plane and fly 5 hours over the mighty Southern Ocean. Soaring past thousands of icebergs, we cross into 24-hours continuous sunshine and onto the last continent – Antarctica!

We spend 4 hours on the ground, experiencing the deep interior of the continent and some of planet Earth's most surreal scenery. Surrounded by 3,000ft pinnacles of rock that rise vertically out of the ice, we do a gentle trek to the summit of 'Birdfall' mountain, followed by a journey to a subterranean cave filled with ice crystals. To finish, we have a glass of champagne in the world's most southerly ice bar!

For those that wish to experience more, there is the option to stay a further 4 days in Antarctica.

CLICK TO VIEW VIDEO OF ANTARCTICA

TRAVEL

With 18 years of operations and over 200 intercontinental flights, we are experts at landing on our specially-prepared ice runway. We use an Airbus A340-300 that has return range fuel and a team of highly experienced pilots.

AIRBUS A340

The widebody aircraft is replete with a combination of first and business class seats. An hour before landing, we turn the temperature down in the aircraft cabin so that we don't overheat as we put on all our specialist polar clothing!

EXPERIENCES

Spectacular views await you at the summit of 'Birdfall' mountain. This is the deep field of Antarctica and a landscape so rarely seen by humans. After the short walk, our specialist 6x6 vehicles will drive you to the entrance of a mighty crevasse before we celebrate in the ice bar.

The entrance to the crevasse with perfect hexagonal ice crystals suspended from the roof like chandeliers.

WHY WE LOVE IT

Even now, so few humans get to step onto the actual continent of Antarctica. The name symbolises true, untamed wilderness and a chance for humans to reconnect with nature and to truly appreciate the vastness of our planet.

The Seventh Continent is a fitting finale to our World tour. Whilst we're not allowed to remove anything from Antarctica, it will give you memories that will remain for the rest of your life.
